Excessive Hilarity at a Dance. An information was filed Monday evening before 'Squire Hendricks charging Stephen Dunn with the crime of assault with intent to commit murder. The row occurred at a dance near Crescent City last Saturday evening. Dunn visited the place and as saulted a young Dane named James Thompson, whom he accused of abusing his son. During the melee Dunn drew a revolver, hence the charge. The case was tried ves terday afternoon, and a large number of witnesses were examined. As no one was injured in the row, and Dunn had not been heard to express any serious threats against Thomoson, the court decided the evidence insufficient and discharged the defendant.

Mayne, of Omaha, which have been located at Union Driving park for some time. It is understood that the attachment was issued in the interest of Omaha parties, who are interested in a settlement with the Bank of Omaha, which failed some time ago, and with Mr. Mayne was connected. which About two months ago, it was reported that Mr. Mayne was about to send over about seventy-five head of horses and colts to the park, to be broken and trained, and then put upon the market. About forty head were set tover and have been here since that time. It is alleged that the training idea animals have been in a pasture near Cres-cent City, belonging to Mr. Mayne's uncle, W. S. Mayne, of the Mayne's uncle, W. S. Mayne, of the law firm of Mayne & Hazleton, of this city, for some time past, and were there yesterday when attached by the sheriff. The value of the attached property is variously estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000, one colt alone being valued at $7,500. Mr. Mayne was not in the city yesterday, so his intentions are as yet unknown. The horses are now at the sale stables of Schlueter & Boley, on Lower Broadway, with the exception of seven

The New Methodist Church. Yesterday afternoon the corner stone of the new Fifth avenue Methodist church was laid in due form. The starting of this church enterprise was somewhat experimental, but sufficient financial backing has been secured to make it no longer an experiment. The ceremony of the laying of the corner stone proved an interesting one, There was a goodly sized audience. Among those present were about thirty divines, a number of them being from Omaha and others being of Iowa, and en route for the annual conference at Denison.

Rev. W. T. Smith, D. D., presiding elder of this district, presided at the exercises vesterday. He read the ritualistic preamvesterday. He read the ritualistic pream-ble, after which a hymn was sung, the choir-leading consisting of Messrs. Sylvester and Prouty. Mrs. Roff and Mrs. Evans, with Mrs. Campbell as organist. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. S. Hooker.

Appropriate selections of scripture were read by Rev. T. McHenry Stuart, of Corn-ing. Rev. T. B. Lemon, of Omaha, read a Bishop Warren gave the address. He spoke of the stones in the wilderness and traced along the history of corner stones, gradually connecting them with Methodism, and then giving some facts concerning the wonderful growth of this denomination. Rev. Mr. Alexander, the paster of the new church, read the contents of the box, which was placed in the corner stone, and gave a history of the organization. The box con-tained the Methodist Discipline for 1888, the M. E. almanac, 1889, the Central Christian Advocate, the Northwestern Advocate, the circular and invitation to the day's serv-ices, the statement of the church organiza-tion, names of trustees, city papers, District

The church organization was effected January, 1889. In June the board of trustees was incorporated, consisting of S. S. St. John, J. Stockdale, C. B. Howard, A. Mitch ell, A. R. Highsmith, W. W. Cones, D. L. Harcourt.

The stone was placed in position by the contractor, Mr. J. P. Weaver, and the decation of the stone was made in due form. A collection was taken and the services closed with the doxology.

The new church is to have a brick foundation and a frame superstructure. It will cost $1,000. The plans show it to be a very attractive looking structure. It will have a main auditorium and three smaller rooms which can be opened or closed at will, thus making the seating capacity of the church conveniently elastic. There has been secured for the church building about $2,000 in subscriptions, and the church extension society will lend $1,200. The remaining amount needful is now being sought for, and the subscription list is going the rounds with good prospects of having the whole amount raised before the building is Creston, Ia., Sept. 10, 1889.

As there are a number of people in this city who intend to visit the corn palace, it is very likely that there will be no difficulty whatever in securing at least one coach load from here. It will be very much more pleasant to have a number go from this city, and the management of the corn palace promises to make special arrangement to entertain them. As they have now had two years' experience there is no doubt but that their promise will be fully carried out. Secretary Zevely will go to work this morning to see how many names can be secured of those who will go. At the low rate offered, one fare for the round trip, and the many attractions of the corn palace, should be no difficulty experienced in get should be no difficulty experienced in get-ting a large party of representative citizens. It is essential that Council Bluffs should be well represented, and all should bear this fact in mind.

It was shown that the bullet entered at the inner angle of the right eye and penetrated both lobes of the brain to depth of about six inches, its course being slightly upward. During the afternoon Billings' back was examined and a slight discoloration was found still remaining where he claims that he was shot. C. Byers, the dentist whose office was in the rear of the one occupied by Kingsley, testi fied to hearing the two men quarreling, and also heard two shots fired and Kingsiye' fall. Two points were made to day, one by the state when William Bebes testified that he was on the street and heard the two shots fired, after which he walked a distance of ninety-five feet before Billings appeare on the walk. The other point was made by the defense when Dr. Barker testified tha he looked at the revolver lying near Kingsle; and believed that two chambers were empty There are ninety subpænas served for wit

Better Mail Facilities.

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 10.- [Special Tele gram to THE BEE. |-First Assistant Postmaster General Clarkson and Colonel Bates superintendent of the free delivery department, have been making a special examina tion of the mail facilities here with a view to enlarging and improving them. Colonei Bates, in an interview to-night, outlines some of the main changes proposed so as to put Des Moines upon a metropolitan basis i postoffice matters. The east side branch of-fice, which now supplies the mail for about 20,000 people, will be enlarged and be known as station A. It will have its own carriers, and mail pouches will be made up direct for that station. The outlying postoffices in the suburbs will probably be discontinued and their place be filled by sub-stations for the sale of stamps, etc., while the people in those vicinities will be served by carriers from the main office. There will be forty-five red mail boxes in the business portion of the city for late collections. The whole mail system will be under the direction of one postmaster, and will be as fine as any city in the country enjoys.

Two Men Killed By the Cars, DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 10 .- | Special Telegram to The Bre. |-James Casey, a Diagona brakeman residing in this city, was killed while flagging a train at Lauray to-day, six miles southwest of Marshalltown.
